Syrah 2016

A wine from the oldest Syrah vineyard in Hungary: when my father examined the soil of the Sporn Steiner vineyard in 1997, Syrah was the variety that came to his mind. The soil is rich in gneiss and mica schist and very hot, that is what this variety needs. At harvest time, I try to reach the point when the berries shrink a bit (like a golf ball) - at this stage it seems that a lot of taste in the berries is changed, from pure pepper it goes more into a taste of black olives and the body gets richer. This wine is only produced in top years.
